DASSdance - Tale of Ten Green REPORT

Thank you very much for your contribution to Tale of Ten Green. Fund raising for the creation of new work is our most challenging task as well as the most vital to keep the art of DASSdance moving forward. Because of contributions such as yours DASSdance was able to successfully present this work and donate 50% of Opening Night Gala proceeds to Survival International which connects our message to real life issues facing the Awa Tribe in Brazil.

With this work, we also brought the Awa Tribe's struggle to a wider audiences through media coverage from NPR radio, Seattle Dances, Seattle Times and other online and news publications. Throughout the season we will reach approximately 600 audience members as well as thousands more through publications surrounding the work.

We were featured on Survival International's Facebook page as part of their campaign "get creative for the Awa". After our successful run at Washington Hall this past September, we will take Tale of Ten Green to New York City in May 2014 to perform a workshop for homeless teens as part of The Door program on the lower west side of Manhattan as well as premiering the full work at the Bowery Ballroom. Excerpts from Tale of Ten Green have already been featured at All 4 1 dancepalooza, Seattle International Dance Festival and will continue to be featured throughout the 2013-2014 season at other free and low cost festivals and appearances.

It is a special honor to have the Tulalip Tribes Charitable Fund's support for this project that speaks to the important concerns of modern day indigenous people. Please let me know if I can furnish further information. url: www.dassdance.org
