Dear Marilyn,

On behalf of the Medic One Foundation Board of Directors, I am very pleased to share this brief report on the successful completion of our 2022 grant, Q4 2021 14.2 from the Tulalip Tribes Charitable Contributions. As you know, we used your generous gift to support a student in Class #48 of the Michael K. Copass, MD Paramedic Training Program.

Thanks to your most generous support, Collin Chavez, our Tulalip Bay Fire Department student, has graduated from our region's world-class Paramedic Training Program! Collin has returned to Tulalip Bay and is working in the field saving lives as a paramedic. Attached are a few photos of Collin during training and at graduation. Additional information about the graduating class and our mission can be found at our website at www.mediconefoundation.org. Importantly, paramedics trained in our program serve over 3 million people in the Puget sound region annually.

Our new paramedics continue to report that graduation from the Paramedic Training Program was one of the most challenging, yet rewarding, professional accomplishments of their careers. Class #48 achieved so much! Over the 10-month training period, the students in Class #48:

- Received 2,100 hours of instruction, nearly double the national recommendation. The majority of lectures were taught by University of Washington faculty physicians. This quantity and quality of instruction, along with student determination, resulted in a median course score of nearly 93% for academics — truly exceptional!
- Acquired very extensive training in the field under the direct supervision of experienced paramedics. Class #48 had a combined patient contact total of over 11,660 or an average of 610 per student—three times the national average.
- Class #48 performed more than 4,775 IVs and 670 intubations, two of the many difficult skills they successfully mastered.
- During the 10-month training program, Class #48 students also participated in treatment of over 260 cardiac arrest victims combined.

Thank you for making Collin's extensive training possible and helping to save more lives in your community. I am not sure if you have seen Collin since his completion of the Paramedic Training Program, but we would be thrilled to make arrangements for a meeting if you would like hear more about his year in paramedic training and his first few months in the field as a paramedic. Thank you again for your generous grant to Medic One Foundation - we are very grateful!

Sincerely,

Kim Duncan Martin
