Dear Marilyn Sheldon,

Thank you once again for your generous contribution to Peninsula Hands On Art this year. Throughout the 2023-2024 School Year, we successfully completed four enriching projects: "Hokusai Wave," "Collagraph Printmaking," "Polynesian Tapa Cloth," and "Giacometti Wire Sculptures." These endeavors reached 4,000 children and resulted in over 1,600 individual projects. Our goal remains steadfast: to foster a community of young artists who celebrate each child's unique talents. With your invaluable support, we've been able to sustain an all-district elementary art program that not only educates and engages children in art history and techniques but also nurtures their creative abilities.

Our program relies heavily on volunteer involvement within the classroom, and we are pleased to report that we trained over 150 volunteers this year. They played a crucial role in facilitating our projects across all 10 elementary schools, contributing to a wonderfully creative year.

The quality of our art supplies constitutes a significant portion of our annual budget and all the money you donated was used to purchase art supplies. Extensive preparation goes into each project, from acquiring materials like cardstock, paper, oil pastels, brayers (rollers), and printing ink for "Collagraph Printmaking," to obtaining stamps, markers, clay, and wire. It is thanks to your support that our students have access to such a diverse range of mediums. We are deeply grateful for your assistance.

Our program has become a cornerstone for parents, teachers, community members, and students alike. We take immense pride in being able to continue offering this exceptional program to every elementary student in our district, thanks to donors like you.

Once again, thank you for your generous donation. Please find attached some photos showcasing the four projects completed this year.
